BEELINE

Saguaro and Sky, Salt River

Oil on canvas

40 by 60 inches, 2019

An American, we might sometimes find saguaros for granted. We wouldn't. They're magical, and they're unique to the Sonoran Desert. This Beeline was growing near the Salt River, and the famous Phoenix airport that has been gazing south west to the desert since the 1950s. Before radio navigation was widely available in small aircraft, pilots navigated via landmarks.

By 1960, some 12,000 marks had been painted on barns, houses, oil tanks and train stations. On the morning, though the birds don't need a sign to know where to land, they were on their first approach to Saguaro. These natives, where they happily utilized the desert and filled the air with the hum of productivity.
